Sorry for the late response. Your email got delivered to my junk box. My wife is going to get me an update in the AM, she was involved from the state's side for a while. I believe it started bubbling again last week, but no further collapses. I attached the most recent IAP from TX brine. Will have an update in the AM.

What have you guys heard about the recent goings on at our favorite hole?

Texas brine still running the in house monitors? Buyouts done?
